If you are going west bear in mind the following facts: The Northern Pacific Railroad owns and operates 82 miles, or 12 per cent, of the entire railroad mileage of Montana; spans the territory with its main line from east to west; is the shortest line to Helena; the only Pullman and ending car line to Butte, and is the only line that touches Miles City, Billings, Great Falls, Missoula, the Yellowstone National Park and, in fact, nine tenths of the cities and points of interest in the territory.

The Northern Pacific owns and operates 4,000 miles or 45 per cent of the railroad mileage in the Northwest, the main line extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific, through the cities of St. Paul, Minneapolis, Great Falls, Helena, Butte, Missoula, Tacoma and Ellensburg, through the center of the territory to Tacoma and Seattle, and from Tacoma to Portland. No other transcontinental line through rail line reaches any portion of Washington Territory. Ten days' stop over time is given on Northern Pacific second class tickets for Spokane Falls and all other westward points affording settlers an excellent opportunity to visit the country.

BURR SPRINGS OPENED.

Hibernian Picnic—Five Thousand People Celebrate on the Banks of Rock River.

July 4th dawned bright and genial on Janesville yesterday. The atmosphere had seemingly been tempered by rains the day before purposely for the occasion. Seldom do we enjoy a day at this season of the year better suited for out door picnic and festivities.

Nearly everybody for miles around took advantage of the good roads and propitious weather and left their homes at an early hour intent on having an all day's celebration. They came flocking to the city as early as eight o'clock, and a constant stream of arrivals was kept up until noon. The steamers commenced making their regular trips before seven o'clock and were completely packed both to and fro with masses of human beings all through the day and late into the night. Indeed, the crowd was so great that the steamers had a good deal of difficulty in handling it properly.

The engines groaned and shrieked, and seemed to strain every rod, in their efforts to do their part faithfully.

The managers of each boat did all in their power for the accommodation of their passengers, and, under the circumstances, are worthy of much praise for what they accomplished.

By half past ten o'clock the grounds at Crystal Springs were filled with people, many not being able to procure passage on the boats drove there with their teams.

At eleven o'clock James Cleland, president of the Pioneer Association of the town of Center, ascended to the rostrum of the small auditorium and called the people to order. The Milton Cornet Band which had been engaged for the occasion, was present and discoursed very sweet music. This was followed by an anthem by the Center choir, of Court Street M. E. church, then led in a very impressive and appropriate invocation.

After another song by the choir, Mrs. J. B. Day was introduced and read in her usual distinct and impressive manner the Declaration of Independence.

The band favored the audience with another selection after which President Cleland introduced the orator of the day, Judge H. A. Patterson, of this city.

Mr. Patterson began his remarks by urging the importance of a general observance of the day; he urged that a cultivation of patriotic sentiment added immeasurably to the value of government and also achieved the right to self government.

Mr. Patterson also spoke of the success of our government and of the necessity of our government and of the necessity of our government and of the necessity of our government.

Rock county was used as an illustration of the advantages of free government and its present condition was contrasted with that of an early day.

To maintain a self government we must be intelligent and wholly imbued with the spirit and sentiment of the Declaration of Independence.

During our late rebellion a celebrated Englishman said of our country, "Remember, this freedom will give a shriek that will startle the world, if the great American republic shall be overthrown."

Emerson also said "that the whole history of the American people appeared like the last efforts of a divine providence to save the human race."

The trials and privations of the early settlers were alluded to, their ultimate success, what had been accomplished in Rock county. Men have labored in the spirit and teaching of the government.

Full credit was also given to women for their share of work in producing these results.

Judge Patterson confined his remarks to the space of thirty or forty minutes during which time he was attentively listened to by an audience of more than one thousand people. He concluded by saying, "All cannot succeed in fortune, but those who do their best under all circumstances cannot fail."

"The soldier who falls in the midst of battle fighting for the right, is crowned a victor who ever holds the field."

The choir then favored the assembly with a selection, and after announcements for the afternoon by the president, a recess of one hour was taken for dinner.

The noon hour was spent at family picnic dinners and in the shade of trees or buildings, and there were many happy reunions who had not met, perhaps, for a whole year or more. The old men swapped yarns; the mothers prepared the meals, and the young people renewed friendships. It was remarked by many that a handsomer company of young ladies was never seen together; and the young men who before were forced to believe that "mathees were made in heaven" were inclined to be persuaded that Crystal Springs was an infinitely better place for such business yesterday.

At two o'clock President Cleland again called the meeting to order. Only two gentlemen whose names were on the programme responded with reminiscences. These were Aaron Broughton, of Magnolia, and Ezra Goodrich, of Milton. Both gentlemen gave very interesting accounts of early times and told stories of hardships hard for the younger portion of the audience to realize.

Mrs. J. B. Day related a story by one of the early settlers, which brought tears to the eyes of many a grey-headed gentleman as his thoughts went back to the days of his youth.

Following this was the annual business meeting.

John H. Haviland, of La Prairie, was elected chairman and A. L. Fisher, of Center, secretary.

A motion was adopted to call the new society the Rock County Pioneer Association.

The newly elected officers are: President—Ezra Goodrich, Milton. Secretary—A. L. Fisher, Center. Treasurer—James Cleland, Janesville.

July 4th dawned bright and genial on Janesville yesterday. The atmosphere had seemingly been tempered by rains the day before purposely for the occasion. Seldom do we enjoy a day at this season of the year better suited for out door picnic and festivities.

Nearly everybody for miles around took advantage of the good roads and propitious weather and left their homes at an early hour intent on having an all day's celebration. They came flocking to the city as early as eight o'clock, and a constant stream of arrivals was kept up until noon. The steamers commenced making their regular trips before seven o'clock and were completely packed both to and fro with masses of human beings all through the day and late into the night. Indeed, the crowd was so great that the steamers had a good deal of difficulty in handling it properly.
